The Teaching Library
Research and Learning Support in 21st-Century Libraries and Special Collections

WED., SEPT. 16, 2015 // 9:30–11:30 AM
LOEB HOUSE, 17 QUINCY STREET

Join us for a panel discussion of the expansive and continually evolving role that academic libraries play in supporting the teaching mission of the university. Our panel will introduce the Harvard community to cutting-edge ideas and current best practices in academic library research support from two complementary perspectives: general research, teaching and learning; and special collections.

Refreshments are at 9:30; the program begins at 10:00.

moderator
FERNANDO M. REIMERS, Faculty Director, International Education Policy Program, Harvard Graduate School of Education

panelists
KELLY E. MILLER, Associate Dean for Learning and Research Services, University of Miami Libraries
JAY SATTERFIELD, Head of Special Collections, Rauner Special Collections Library, Dartmouth College

Bring your voice to the conversation about the future of libraries.
